

For Immediate Release
April 20, 2010
Information: Grace Meils
206.328.2200 x260
gmeils@pratt.org

PRATT FINE ARTS CENTER

Made at Pratt

On display at Pratt Gallery at Tashiro Kaplan Studios May 6-28, 2010

Opening Reception: First Thursday, May 6, 6 - 8 pm

Pratt Fine Arts Center is pleased to present Made at Pratt, a juried group exhibition showcasing art by Pratt's studio renters. Along with providing art classes, Pratt provides access to professional studios to working artists. These artists, a vital part of the Pratt Community, will display work representing all the rented studios at Pratt: printmaking, glassmaking, sculpture, and jewelry.

Work by studio users will also be on display in the Pratt Hallway Gallery during this time. The Pratt Hallway Gallery is located in Pratt's main building at 1902 South Main Street, in Seattle's Central District. Artists included in this exhibition are Carolina Andersson, Paul Bernstein, Tatyana Brown, Virginia Davison, Peggy Foy, Isabella Leary, Emma Levitt, Dan Loewenstein, Jen Malley, Jacob Mans, Crista Matteson, Neil Palmer, Donna Prunkard, Sue Smith and Hugh Willa.

The Pratt Gallery at Tashiro Kaplan Studios showcases the artwork of its instructors, students and renters, demonstrating the quality, strength and range of talent that is cultivated and made possible by programs offered at Pratt Fine Arts Center. Pratt's Exhibitions and Lecture programs are sponsored by grants from 4Culture, National Endowment for the Arts, Seattle Office of Arts and Cultural Affairs, Silicon Valley Community Foundation and the Washington State Arts Commission.

"Blue Heron"
Crista Matteson, 2010

About Pratt
Fine Arts Center:

Pratt Fine Arts Center was named after Edwin T. Pratt, a civil rights leader whose vision was to improve the quality of life for all people through equal opportunities. Pratt works to maintain this legacy by changing the lives of individuals of all ages, skill levels, ethnicities and economic means - through art. Located in one of Seattle's most culturally diverse and economically disadvantaged areas, Pratt fosters creative expression, community and shared inspiration - providing life-transforming experiences through visual arts training. Pratt offers all people who enter its doors the opportunity to make something unique, to change the way they see their world - and the way they see themselves.

Untitled, Donna Prunkard, 2009

- end -

Since 1976, Pratt Fine Arts Center has offered art classes for everyone and workspace for artists in its equipment-rich facilities in Seattle's Central District. Pratt serves 3,400 students each year and more than 500 working artists use Pratt's affordable studios and equipment.

###