STUDY MIXED MEDIA PRINTMAKING IN CHACALA, MEXICO

February 8-15, 2020 with Miguel Perez and Larry Calkins

Join us for a week-long mixed media printmaking intensive in Chacala, Mexico (one hour north of Puerto Vallarta) where the jungle meets the ocean. Work for five days with Maestro Miguel Perez at his studio Grafica Chacala: (Facebook Grafica Chacala) and our own Larry Calkins: (www.calkinsart.com) to create works that combine sketching, printmaking and journaling. Be inspired by the petroglyphs at Alta Vista. Swim in the warm waters of the Pacific.

Tuition includes lodging for seven nights (Saturday to Saturday) giving students a day to explore Chacala before the workshop begins. Prerequisite: None

The Location:

This region was originally home to the largely unstudied (Tecoquin) native culture dating from approximately 2000 BC to 2300 BCE. It contains 56 petroglyphs whose antiquity cannot be accurately determined. Aside from its cultural and archeological importance, the site remains an important religious center for the Wixratica people who leave offerings and perform ceremonies here. Discover this hidden Mexican gem and the wonderful people who live in this idyllic location.

Tuition:

Tuition is $1850

Deposit of $925 due upon registration

Balance of $925 due November 8, 2018

Cancellation date November 15

The trip will be cancelled if it has not reached minimum enrollment. Should the trip be cancelled due to under-enrollment, any registration fees will be refunded in full.

We will notify students when the class reaches minimum enrollment and suggest making no non-refundable travel plans until that time.

CANCELLATION REFUND POLICY

25% non-refundable for withdrawal until Jan 3

50% non-refundable for withdrawal after Jan 3
